

A/C Disconnect Box Notice

Attention all Home Owners:

Some manufactured homes do not come with an electrical disconnect box installed. This disconnect box is needed to connect power to your A/C. If your home does not have a disconnect box, that means that a disconnect box was not included in the price of your home. If a disconnect box is not installed in your home, you will be financially responsible for having one installed. If you need someone to assist you in locating your disconnect box, please ask a Texas Home Outlet employee.
